

DIAMOND PET FOOD RECALL

Diamond Pet Foods is voluntarily recalling limited production codes of some of their cat food products because they might have low levels of thiamine (Vitamin B1). Thiamine is essential for cats in maintaining normal nervous system function. Early signs of Thiamine deficiency include decreased appetite, salivation, vomiting and weight loss. Advanced cases include wobbly walking, falling, circling and seizures. To date, no health issues have been associated with this recall.

Listed are the products being recalled.
